

SENATOR KIDD

Receives Nomination at Webster Springs

Webster Springs, W. Va.,—The democrats of the tenth senatorial district, known as the "Shoe String district," strung out by a republican legislature as one of the few districts which it was supposed was to be hopelessly democratic, and which is composed of the counties of Pocahontas, Webster, Braxton, Gilmer and Calhoun, held their convention here yesterday, practically every delegate, as well as a large number of others, being in attendance.

Captain E. B. Carlin, of Sutton, was made chairman, and on a stirring his duties made a most excellent address, which met a hearty response from all present. That great democratic war horse, who is ever found at the front in every political battle for the rights of the masses, Hon. Andrew Price, of Marlinton, was chosen secretary, and as Andrew is a member of every democratic executive committee from the school district of Marlinton up to the state committee, and would make a most excellent national committeeman, no democratic convention of any kind, whatever, is complete without him, and you always may be sure to find Andrew on hand whenever any of them convene.

There were two names placed before the convention, that of Senator Bob Kidd, of Gilmer, by Hon. Jake F. Sher, and that of Mr. Dyer, of Webster, by W. S. Wysocki, Esq.

While Mr. Dyer is regarded as a most excellent gentleman and would make a good state senator, yet as a political recognition of the eminent fitness of Senator Bob Kidd and of the valuable services which he has heretofore rendered the party in the past, as well as the need of him in the coming legislature, when so much important work will be required to give him a re-nomination, the vote being as follows:

For Mr. Kidd, Gilmer, Calhoun, Pocahontas solid, and 24 out of 25 votes of Braxton.

For Mr. Dyer, the solid vote of Webster and 1 from Braxton.

Totals, Kidd, 68; Dyer, 14. The following members of the senatorial executive committee were chosen: Braxton, L. H. Kelly; Calhoun, A. Hardman, Sr.; Gilmer, Fred Lewis; Pocahontas, Andrew Price; Webster, W. T. Talbott.

Senator Kidd in accepting the nomination, made one of the ablest as well as one of the most eloquent speeches ever made in West Virginia.

As an orator, fearless and convincing, Senator Kidd has no superior, and few equals, in all this little mountain state, and the Elkins Dawson conglomeration will be made to feel the effect of his eloquence before the next session of the legislature adjourns.

The following resolutions were adopted:

"We condemn the actions of Senators Elkins and Scott in their successful effort to defeat railway rate legislation by congress. And in this connection we call the attention of the people to the so-called 'Elkins Amendment,' under the provisions of which certain railroads in which the senator is interested, are by indirect means permitted to produce and deal in the commodities transported by them, while their competitors are by the law prohibited therefrom; and we charge Senator Elkins with selfish and personal motives and design in procuring such legislation.

"We desire that the principle of ownership by railroad companies of companies or corporation engaged in the business of producing freight to be transported by such railroads is dangerous and detrimental to the interests of the people and we demand legislation which will fully protect the people against such danger and detriment without, however, preventing the operation of lateral, small or independent lines of railroad built and operated chiefly for the purpose of removing and marketing the lumber and coal of such company.

"We believe that the railroad companies engaged in the transportation of passengers should be required by law to transport such passengers at a charge of not more than two cents per mile; and to that end we favor all laws which fully carry into effect this resolution protecting, however, to the extent that may be wise and just, lateral or branch lines of railroads which in the opinion of the legislature would require for their maintenance an support a reason able charge in excess of the two cent rate aforesaid.

"We are in favor of a bipartisan railroad commission to be elected by the people, and with full power and authority to carry into effect all laws of this state and the acts of congress and rules of the interstate commerce commission applicable to any matters which may come before said railroad commission; and we demand the enactment of a law providing for the creation of such commission and defining its powers and duties.

And we especially demand that in such law providing for such commission there shall be given to it full and ample power to prevent discriminations against shippers and to compel the railroad companies to fairly and impartially distribute and furnish cars to all shippers.

"We believe the time has come when corporations and companies, as such, must be prohibited by law from making contributions to the campaign fund of any and all political parties or the individual candidates of all parties, both in the nominating and general elections.

"We submit that all such contributions and any and all interference by corporations and large employers of labor tending to coerce the employed in the exercise of their suffrages breed dangerous opposition to capital and industry, thereby tending to a great measure to array labor against capital to the detriment of both and are at the same time, corrupting in their effect as well.

"We believe in a uniform taxation of both property and property rights; therefore, we condemn Gov. Wm. M. O. Dawson for his deal with the Standard Oil company by which deal Mr. Dawson in consideration of a donation to the republican campaign fund, agreed to and did eliminate from taxation the production of oil and gas; and we especially request the senators from this, the tenth senatorial district, to use all honorable means to pass a law taxing the production of oil and gas as other property is assessed and taxed.

"We reaffirm our allegiance to the Hon. W. J. Bryan, of Nebraska, because we believe him to be the superior advocate and leader of the people's rights to that of any other American citizen."

Memorial

Mary C. Moore the wife of Allen T. Moore was born December 23rd, 1841, and died June 25th, 1906. Aged 64 years, 6 months and 2 days.

She was the daughter of Robert T. Gay, who died August 10th, 1875, and Elizabeth Gay his wife who died September 27th 1905.

She survived by her two sons and two daughters. One of her sons John K. lives in Washington, D. C., and was with her in her last hours, the other son William R., lives in Butte City, Montana, and was not present at her funeral. One of her daughters Mrs. Isaac Sharp, died some years ago. One of her daughters Mrs. Allie Young, now lives near Lobelia, W. Va., and Mrs. David L. Barlow, her youngest daughter lives near the Old Homestead. She was buried at the Edray graveyard on Tuesday, the 26th of June, in the presence of a large crowd of sympathizing friends.

After conversion, she united with the M. E. Church about 33 years ago, and lived a consistent and useful life, always kind, open-hearted and obliging. In her last hours she expressed implicit trust in the saving power of Divine Grace. "She rests from her labors."

Huntersville

Children's day services went off nicely with a large congregation present.

We are glad indeed to have a minister in our town. We can notice a great change in regard to Sunday observance since his arrival, and in other particulars as well. This makes the town a more pleasant place in which to live.

A new walk is being built to the Presbyterian church. This is a needed improvement and adds greatly to the town.

We would call attention to the 27th and 28th verses of the 6th chapter of Luke, which says, "But I say unto you which hear love your enemies, do good to them which hate you, bless them that curse you and pray for them which despitefully use you."

He has put into man his love—a love so wide that He wishes us to love even our enemies. If we are to be truly happy we must learn that love is the means and the end—the everything. The streams of life which have not their source in the fountain of eternal love, will dry as a valley without rain. To love and to receive this is the secret of happiness. A secret so unselfish that it will declare itself even in death.

Senator Bailey's Threat

A congregation at the Waldorf-Astoria, in which Senator Bailey, of Texas, participated a few evenings ago, has created a great deal of comment among the persons involved and those to whom they related it, and leaked yesterday.

Mr. Bailey, who had made a flying trip to New York, was seated at a table at the Waldorf Astoria with some friends, when several persons prominent in corporation affairs came up. Some of them were officials of the Standard Oil Company. The gentlemen at Mr. Bailey's table were acquainted with them, and introduced them to the Senator.

They sat down and the conversation naturally turned out recent events at Washington, the determination evident there to make things unpleasant for corporations, and in particular the passage of the railway rate bill, with the stringent amendments added in the Senate.

Mr. Bailey did not say much at this stage of the conversation. He listened to the Standard Oil men, who gradually became stronger in their expressions. The complained bitterly at the disposition evident in Washington to make things unpleasant for them and sharply attacked the railway rate bill and the Senate amendments. Presently Mr. Bailey, who had been listening patiently, struck into the conversation in an emphatic and menacing tone.

"You gentlemen who run these corporations," said he, "must obey the law. If you had obeyed it in the first place, you would not have this new legislation to complain of. All your properties are held by virtue of the popular respect for law and yet you are the very men who are doing most by your acts to break down this respect for law.

"Every time Congress passes a law you violate it. You have violated every law we have given you. We gave you the Sherman anti-trust law; you violated that. Then we gave you the Elkins law, and you violated that. Now we give you a new one. If you violate that we will give you a new one. If you violate that will have iron teeth.

A pause ensued after this declaration of Senator Bailey's. After a while one of the corporation officials present asked: "What do you mean, Senator, by a law with iron teeth?" "I mean a law that will send every one of you to the penitentiary."

After this, very little was said by others present about the unfairness of Congress' attitude toward corporations. The conversation, however, continued along the same subject for a while and presently Mr. Bailey said:

"The ownership of competing corporations by the same hands cannot go on. This Pennsylvania Railroad combination is one that will have to be broken up, and will be."

Afterward, in speaking of the same subject to others, Senator Bailey said: "These corporation officials who violate the law, who break every law that Congress enacts are doing more to create Anarchists Socialists than all the propaganda that those people can put into operation from now till doom's day."

Tariff on Coal

Richmond.—Within the next few days the tariff on all coal shipped over the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway from the New River fields will be reduced from $1.69 to $1.50 per ton, and the recent "manufacturers' tariff" will be abolished. The new rate will be enjoyed by all shippers without discrimination.

Champion for Pocahontas

Louis F. Miller, of Jersey City, with Sherman & Culver, Live Stock Commission Merchants, proved an unexpected champion for Pocahontas the other day in a discussion in New York over the truth of an article in a New York paper clipped from "The Williams River Country" published in Recreation. The killing of a bear with a stone was the point in controversy. For years Mr. Miller had been handling Pocahontas cattle, was acquainted with many of our shippers and raisers, had made a few trips to the county, and knew something of the wonders of the land whose cattle fresh from the blue grass sod pass for corn fed cattle. Though he had not heard of the killing the bear by hand incident, he realized its truth and was ready to defend truth at all hazards, even to the extent of telling a few little ones if necessary. He could only allay the doubts of his friends by telling them that while he himself had not killed the bear, he had owned the dogs from which the varment was fleeing. This he was ready to back up by the word of Pat Gay, of Marlinton, whom he knew to be perfectly willing to assure them that he himself was the very man who killed the bear and had done it often.

We are very thankful to Mr. Miller for thus defending our traditions, and we told him so. He is here looking up old customers and finding new ones. In speaking about the recent fair the President stirred up among the Chicago packers, he said it had cost the beef trust millions of dollars. That in New York the grocers were shipping the canned meats back to the packers. It had also materially hurt the trade in dressed meats—people here and in Europe being afraid of the doctored refrigerator product of packing houses. On the other hand the local butchers were reaping a harvest. These are the people who were being crowded to the wall by the adulterated meat of the packers. It will also help the export trade. Europe wants our cattle because ours are the best cattle and will take them alive. Mr. Miller does not think the investigation will effect the market price in this section as few of our cattlego to the packers, but that it will undoubtedly lower the price of the poor Texas and Colorado herds upon which the packers rely to fill their cans.

Edward Toogood, of Washington, electrician at White Sulphur, was found dead in Howards Creek, near the water tank at Greenbrier pumping station. He was found by the man who tends the pump and from bruises on the face and body, it is supposed the unfortunate man had been knocked over the embankment into the creek while attempting to board a moving train. He had been at the White only three days, but had been drinking heavily. He had disappeared from the hotel the week before, and gone to the home of J. H. Griffith, where his strange, crazy actions scared the family and an officer was sent for. Before the arrival of the policeman Toogood was gone. A systematic search for him availed nothing, except the finding of some of his apparel near the place his body was afterward found. The wounds on his head and body were not such as to cause death, and the remains bore every appearance of those of a drowned person. Squire Turner empanelled a coroner's jury which returned a verdict that the deceased had come to his death from unknown causes. Toogood was given a decent burial at the White Sulphur graveyard.

Clarkson-Curry

On July 3rd, at 9 a. m., at the residence of the bride's parents near Cass, Mr. Walter G. Clarkson and Miss Myrtle V. Curry were united in marriage, Rev. H. Q. Burr, the bride's pastor officiating. The groom is a native of Bath County, Va., but has for several years been a resident of this county. The bride is well known, having numerous relatives and friends in upper Pocahontas. Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple left for Cass, where they boarded the train for Durbin and Bastow where they will visit friends and relatives of the bride for a few days.
